Gen. Lemnitzer Chosen As Next JCS Chairman

Ike Names Army Chief To Succeed Retiring Twining

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower Monday selected Army Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer to be chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

He will succeed Air Force Gen. Nathan F. Twining, who has requested retirement for health reasons before completing his second two-year term as the administration's principal military adviser. No date has been set for Twining's retirement.

Lemnitzer must win Senate confirmation. The appointment would have been up to the next president had Twining been able to complete his assigned service.

Lemnitzer, who will be 61 on Aug. 29, has been Army chief of staff for just over one year. He is a native of Honesdale, Pa.

Helped Plan Africa Landing
He came to Eisenhower's notice early in World War II when he was in the plans division of the general staff.

Lemnitzer helped plan the Allied landing in North Africa and accompanied Gen. Mark W. Clark in a secret submarine mission that paved the way for the landing.

Before the war was over, Lemnitzer won honors as a military diplomat. He served as chief of staff of the British-Led Allied command in the Mediterranean and in secret negotiations that led to the surrender of Italy and later to the capitulation of German forces in that area.

Commanded 7th In Korea
Lemnitzer qualified, at the age of 51, as a parachutist in order to get command of an airborne division, then went to Korea as commander of the 7th Infantry Division where he took part in bitter fighting.

Although there is no law or regulation on the subject, the chairmanship of the Joint Chiefs has rotated among the services.

Twining, the first airman to attain the chairmanship, recovered last year from an operation for the removal of a cancerous growth from one lung. Earlier this year, he had his appendix removed. He informed Eisenhower last week that he would like to step down whenever the President was ready to name a successor. No date has been set for the changeover.

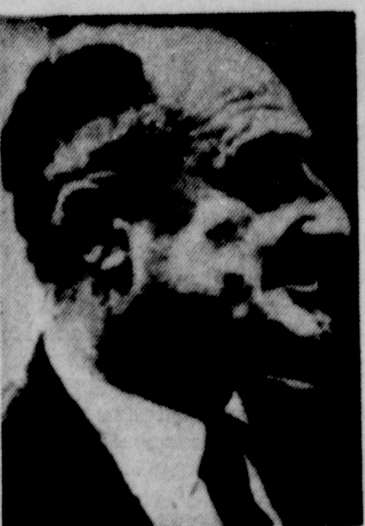

Johnson Backs Kennedy Plan
WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson laid the lines Monday for a health insurance battle that will pit the Democratic nominees against strong opposition within their own party as well as against the Republicans.

Johnson, Democratic vice presidential nominee from Texas, told a news conference the old age health bill approved by the Senate Finance Committee Saturday is inadequate. "We should put this on a pay-as-you-go basis, linked to the Social Security system," he said.

Thus he lined up with Sen. John F. Kennedy, the Democratic presidential nominee, in supporting the type of old age health insurance advocated in the party platform.

This lineup of the Democratic nominees brought them both into conflict with six of the finance committee's 11 Democrats who voted with the six Republican members in favor of the bill.

POWERS' LAWYER — Mikhael Griniov, Soviet attorney for U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers, talks to newsmen in Moscow yesterday after meeting for first time with the flier's family. Powers goes on trial tomorrow on espionage charges. (AP Photo-af via radio from Moscow)

Powers Family Has Confidence In Russ Lawyer

By REINHOLD G. ENSZ

MOSCOW (AP) — The family of U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers met his Soviet lawyer for the first time Monday and expressed confidence he is competent and will do his best to help the accused flier.

Powers goes on trial Wednesday on espionage charges. "The conference with the defense attorney was most useful and we have confidence he will do all possible to help our son," said the flier's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver W. Powers in a brief statement.

Alexander W. Parker of Richmond, Va., an attorney who accompanied the pilot's wife, Barbara, called the meeting with Soviet attorney Mikhael Griniov "highly satisfactory."

But after a defense strategy conference with Griniov that lasted more than an hour, Parker declined to discuss the trial itself or the condition of Powers. Griniov told them he had just come from a long morning conference with the flier.

Parker told a news conference: "Everybody was impressed by (Griniov's) sincerity, his apparent ability and frankness. We were favorably impressed with him and his desire to cooperate. He has a heavy job, a great job, and he is going to give the best he has got."

"This feeling is general among all the (Virginia) attorneys," Griniov is a kindly faced little man with thinning, close-cropped gray hair and a tiny beard. He is said to have handled many criminal cases in the Soviet Union.

Griniov was one of the Soviet prosecutors at the Nuremberg trials of Nazi leaders. So was Powers' chief prosecutor, Roman A. Rudenko.

Barbara was accompanied by Parker and another attorney Frank W. Rogers of Roanoke. The flier's parents were accompanied by Carl A. McAfee, an attorney from Norton, Va.

The appointment with Griniov was arranged by V. Bakkin, head of the American section of Intourist, the official Soviet tourist agency. The appointment had to be made through Intourist because the Virginia lawyers are here in an unofficial capacity and will attend Powers' trial only as spectators.

Mother Faces Neglect Charge In Child Drugging
CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Her dark hair knotted with a red ribbon, the mother of Cleveland's "sleeping beauties" appeared in Central Police Station Monday and was charged with child neglect.

Dabbling at tears with a lace-bordered handkerchief, Lillian Fratanonio, 29, left the station for Juvenile Court where she was released on $1,000 bond to appear at a hearing Friday at 2 p.m.

Out of Monday's conference of authorities came another possible motive for the diminutive, plump mother's admitted drugging of her daughters, Bernadette, 3, and Venita, 5. Detective Inspector Richard R. Wagner said Mrs. Fratanonio asserted she was trying to bring herself and her husband, Vincent, 33, closer together. She has three other children.

Wagner said that neither in her

Rayburn Puts Quitting Time Up To Senate

House Reconvenes
But Lacks Quorum
To Do Business

WASHINGTON (AP) — Speaker Sam Rayburn (D-Tex.) brought the House back into session Monday but left up to the Senate the question of how long Congress will stay in town.

Rayburn said quitting time probably will be determined by how much longer the Senate takes to pass two bills the House attended to weeks or months ago — measures raising the minimum wage and providing health aid for old people.

When Congress suspended its work in July for the national party conventions the House, as usual was well ahead of the Senate work schedule.

Senate Accomplishments
The Senate has been in renewed session for a week now, and has accomplished two things: It has ratified the Antarctic treaty and passed a four-billion-dollar public works bill.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic Senate leader and his party's vice-presidential nominee, told reporters Congress can get something done in short order, if the Republicans don't obstruct things.

With a degree of irony, he added that he "would not suspect any of my colleagues of seeking to prolong the session unduly."

House Lacks Quorum
Some Republicans are still talking of offering civil rights proposals, which doubtless would produce a Southern filibuster if pressed. Also Republicans and some Democrats have drawn up 30 or more amendments to the bill seeking to raise the minimum wage above its present $1 level.

The House has no important business scheduled for this week, marking time for the Senate to catch up, but it had planned to get some routine matters out of the way Monday.

That plan failed when Rep. H.R. Gross (R-Iowa) demanded a roll call to show whether there were enough members present to do business. The roll call showed 161 present, whereas it would take 217 to compose the necessary quorum. So the House adjourned until Tuesday.

Hoover Reports Sharp Increase In U.S. Crime
WASHINGTON (AP) — FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover Monday reported a "startling" increase in U.S. crime during the first six months of 1960, as reflected in preliminary reports from police in cities of more than 25,000 population.

The report said these urban areas had a 9 per cent crime increase as compared with the first half of 1959, with jumps in every major offense category.

Murders, the report showed, advanced 6 per cent, forcible rape and auto theft 5 per cent, and aggravated assault 4 per cent.

New Soviet-China Trouble Reported
LONDON (AP) — The West began checking Monday into new reports of trouble between the Soviet Union and Red China.

The reports — from Communist Yugoslavia — said Soviet technicians who had been assigned to a variety of Chinese projects are leaving Peiping by trainloads.

A carefully worded dispatch by the Peiping correspondent of Yugoslavia's official news agency Tanjug showed skepticism over the official Chinese explanation that the Soviets were departing because their contracts had expired.

His dispatch suggested the exodus possibly reflected a serious rift in Soviet-Chinese relations — a rift that might mean withdrawal of all Soviet experts.

Explosion Rips Plant, Kills Three

OAS Roadblock Is Thrown Up By Venezuela

SAN JOSE, Costa Rica (UPI) — Venezuela Monday night demanded extreme sanctions against the Dominican Republic, throwing up a potential roadblock in front of foreign ministers seeking swift action by the Organization of American States on the issue of Soviet interference in the hemisphere.

Venezuelan Foreign Minister Ignacio Arcaya announced that his delegation would quit the meeting unless the sanctions were issued.

The OAS meeting, opening Tuesday in the national theater, was scheduled to take up charges by Venezuela that the Dominican government of Rafael Trujillo engineered the bombing assassination attempt against Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt earlier this year.

The foreign ministers of several Latin and Central American countries immediately began round-the-clock conferences in an effort to solidify conciliatory measures to placate the Venezuelans.

Arcaya's announcement had the effect of making many delegations to the 21-nation conference concentrate their efforts on a solution to the Venezuelan-Dominican dispute rather than the issue of Russian efforts in Latin America.

The principle problem the OAS faces is that while many Latin American delegations are willing to vote a diplomatic boycott of the Dominican Republic, the United States wants only token action taken.

Arcaya was reported to have said in meetings with other foreign ministers that any attempt to weaken the sanctions against the Trujillo regime could mean the collapse of the Betancourt government.

Improved Hercules Kills Sister Missile

WHITE SANDS MISSILE RANGE, N.M. (AP) — An improved Nike-Hercules missile "killed" another Hercules 11 miles above the desert on White Sands missile range last Friday, it was announced Monday.

Hercules destroyed a Corporal ballistic missile in flight earlier this summer at White Sands in the first interception of its kind.

In Friday's test Hercules was used as a target for its sister missile because it has a greater performance than any target previously available to test the deadly Hercules.

Kennedy-Johnson Team Faces Major Senate Power Test

By The Associated Press

With the first test of their Senate power still in the balance, the Democratic nominees Monday lined up for another major battle against dissenting members of their own party and against the Republicans.

Sen. John F. Kennedy, the presidential candidate, pushed ahead on his minimum wage bill with the aid of his running mate, Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson.

They're trying to increase the hourly minimum from $1 to $1.25 and extend coverage to five million more workers against stiff opposition from Republicans and several Democrats, mostly from the South.

It's not clear yet when this first major test of the Kennedy-Johnson team will be concluded but the two candidates made it clear Monday they're ready to take on the same coalition in a floor fight over health insurance for the aged. Kennedy and Johnson want a broad program under Social Security.

This struggle, likely to open next week, will offer the Massachusetts and Texas senators an even more difficult challenge. The minimum wage bill had committee approval but on the old age health insurance they must override committee recommendations on the floor if their views are to prevail.

The Finance Committee approved a measure calling for federal-state grants as Democrats, headed by Chairman Harry F. Byrd of Virginia, voted 6-5 with the Republicans. Thus they turned their backs on the Democratic platform call for a bill to put such insurance into the Social Security program.

Johnson, in a news conference, made a veiled charge of obstructionism by the Republicans in the slow Senate action on the minimum wage bill. With obvious sarcasm, he said he "would not suspect any of my colleagues of seeking to prolong the session unduly."

Then he added, "the American people are well aware of the realities and will be fully competent of deciding for themselves whether there was an effort to keep Congress in session" for an unreasonable time in order to delay the campaign.

While the Democrats held center stage in the Senate, the Republican nominee, Vice President Richard M. Nixon planned a sortie into the South—perhaps encouraged in his vote-seeking by the increasing points of collision between Kennedy and senators from traditionally Democratic Dixie.

Nixon is scheduled for a speech Wednesday at Greensboro, N.C. and Sen. Thurston B. Morton, the Republican national chairman from Kentucky is urging him to make flying trips soon to Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia and Virginia—states where there has been much vocal dissatisfaction with the Democrats' civil rights plank.

Nixon's press secretary, Herbert G. Klein, said at a news conference Nixon is pushing for passage at this session of a two-point civil rights bill asked by President Eisenhower even though the Senate rejected it overwhelmingly last week.

Eisenhower asked for financial aid for school districts voluntarily desegregating schools and for a federal commission to end racial discrimination on government-financed projects.

Northern and Southern Democrats closed ranks to kill this move through a tabling motion. It was explained this was done so a filibuster would not block action on other major bills at the botched session.

Bus Depot Restaurant Chain Desegregated
PETERSBURG, Va. (AP) — The head of a firm which operates bus terminal restaurants in five southern states announced Monday that all the restaurants in the chain will be desegregated.

Bryce Wagoner, president of Bus Terminal Restaurants Inc., said his company's policy in the future "will be to not refuse service to anyone because of race."

The policy is effective immediately.

Plant Explosion Kills Three Men
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — An explosion ripped the Rheem Manufacturing Co. plant Monday killing three men and sending 12 to hospitals.

The blast ripped through a block-long oven, broke gas lines in the ceiling and set the gas afire.

Killed were Jacob Floyd McKnight, 55, plant superintendent; Raymond W. Mobley, 37; and George H. Green, 43.

The blast and fire erupted without warning in a block-long oven used in manufacturing 55-gallon barrels.

The company makes tanks, barrels and containers and has 27 plants in the United States and eight other countries.

P. J. Dedee, plant manager, said the explosion apparently occurred from accumulated gas at the oven and was set off by an automatic pilot light. The oven bakes lacquer onto the barrels.

Dag, Assailed By Lumumba, Flies To N.Y.

Premier Demands
Hammar-skjold Be Relieved Of Task

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold left for New York by plane Monday night to put difficulties newly raised by Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba before the United Nations Security Council. He declined to wait for a Congolese delegation that sought to fly to New York with him.

Lumumba had asked Hammarskjold to delay his departure 24 hours to take a delegation of four Congolese ministers along to appear in the Council.

In a letter to Lumumba, the secretary-general said that he did not see the advantage of this since the Security Council would not meet before the arrival of the Congolese delegation in any case.

(In New York the U.N. announced Hammarskjold has asked Ambassador Armand Berard of France, president of the Security Council for August, to call the 11-nation Security Council into session to deal with the new problems. He asked that Berard fix the date so that the Congolese delegation would have time to get to New York. It was indicated that no meeting would be held before Wednesday and that it might be set for Thursday.)

Hammarskjold decided to consult the Security Council after Lumumba in a bitter series of three letters announced he no longer had confidence in the secretary-general.

Peace Without Delegation
Shortly before Hammarskjold left his Leopoldville apartment, Vice Premier Antoine Gizenga telephoned and asked what time his plane was going. Gizenga said the Congolese delegation wanted to go with him.

Hammarskjold was escorted to the airport by a guard of Ghana police from the U.N. Congo force.

The secretary-general is flying by U.N. plane to Paris where he will board a commercial plane for New York. Before leaving Leopoldville, Hammarskjold sent a letter to Congo President Joseph Kasavubu expressing regrets he had been unable to see him and saying that certain misunderstandings had arisen.

Kasavubu spent the day in the newly independent former French Congo as the guest of Premier Fulbert Youlou. Lumumba pointedly was not invited to the independence celebration across the river.

The cocksure Lumumba clashed openly and bitterly with Hammarskjold Monday and in a declaration asked that an African-Asian observer group take over the delicate task in place of Hammarskjold.

Demonstration Broken Up
The declaration came in an exchange of letters as multiracial U.N. forces, pledged to political neutrality, moved by air and rail to reinforce Swedish U.N. detachments in secessionist Katanga province.

The neutrality, irritating to Lumumba, was demonstrated during street demonstrations Monday in Elisabethville, Katanga's capital, against the independence-minded provincial Premier Moise Tshombe.

Tshombe's police used tear gas to break up the demonstrations. The Swedish U.N. troops, out on their first day of patrol in Elisabethville after taking over guard duty from Belgian soldiers, looked the other way.

With his country in near collapse around him and his own position shaky, Lumumba made five (Continued on Page 2, Col. 4)

International Law Not Violated By U2 Flights, House Group Counsel Argues

WASHINGTON (AP)—There are persuasive reasons for the view that U2 reconnaissance flights over the Soviet Union did not violate international law, a congressional committee lawyer said Monday.

Giving his views in a talk prepared for a meeting of the International Astronautical Federation in Stockholm, Spencer M. Beresford said he was not discussing whether the flights may have violated Soviet domestic law, under which the pilot of a downed U2 plane is being tried in Moscow beginning Wednesday.

Beresford is special counsel to the House Space Committee. He said the opinion he expressed was personal, not official.

He said there is good reason to challenge the contentions that the U2 flights were, under international law, invasions of Soviet airspace, or espionage or aggression. The question of Soviet domestic law is irrelevant, to this discussion, he argued, since there is no applicable agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union and no sovereign which the pilot of a downed U2 country is bound by the internal laws of another.

Beresford based part of his argument on the acceptance by various countries of satellite orbits

Whites Request Officials Move Negro College

UNION, Miss. (AP)—White citizens have asked officials of a Negro college now being built to move and disband it, a spokesman disclosed Monday.

The Rev. J. P. Bush, pastor of the New Island Baptist church in the area, said a crowd estimated at 200 presented the request Saturday night to the secretary of the Bay Ridge Christian College on the grounds of the school.

The minister said the crowd asked the secretary to "send his out-of-state colored people away from there within 48 hours or we will not be responsible for anything that would happen to them."

The secretary, James Stewart, a Negro, was not available for comment.

The secretary of state's office in Jackson said that a charter for the college was refused April 18, after the attorney general's office ruled that granting it was "not in the best interest of the State of Mississippi."

The application for the charter said the institution would be built under the auspices of the Church of God, headquartered in Anderson, Ind.

The minister said the crowd was "in a very peaceful mood, with no show or thought of violence."

demands on Hammarskjöld: 1. Remove U.N. troops from all Congo airports and turn the guard duty over to his reactivated Congolese army and police.

2. Send Moroccan, Guinean, Ghana, Ethiopian, Tunisian, Sudanese, Liberian and Congolese troops to Katanga immediately and withdraw all white troops from the province.

3. Provide planes to fly Congolese troops throughout the country to re-establish order.

4. Seize all arms and ammunition distributed by the Belgians in Katanga and put them at the disposal of the central government.

5. Replace Hammarskjöld's control over the U.N. Congo command by neutral observers of 14 nations whose mission would be "to assure the immediate and integral application of the Security Council's resolutions."

Senators Debate Latin-America Aid

WASHINGTON (AP)—The 600-million-dollar plan of aid for Latin America by the administration Monday by a Democratic proposal to make it 10 billion.

The counterproposal came from Sen. Frank Church of Idaho. Church proposed the larger program—to run for 5 to 10 years—during an appearance before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee by Undersecretary of State Douglas Dillon.

"If the United States is really serious," Church said, "we need a great deal more money."

Dillon was given a generally favorable reception by the committee; several of its members have been arguing for a long-range program aimed at helping Latin-Americans help their own development.

In asking the authorization of 600 million dollars, Dillon said development work is needed to meet the threat that American democracies may be overthrown by frustrated and restless citizens hoping for a better life.

He said studies leading to the request were undertaken before the Cuban crisis.

"Certain governments in Latin America see in Cuba the need to take action to avoid similar violent problems. Cuba provides a picture of what happens when social progress does not keep pace with economic development," he added.

Dillon stipulated that for economic development to continue successfully, the countries being aided would have to stabilize their economies and modernize their tax systems.

Hoffa Loses Round In Suit

DETROIT (AP)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa lost a round Monday in his 2½-million-dollar libel suit against Jack Paar, Robert F. Kennedy and the National Broadcasting Co.

U.S. District Court Judge Theodore Levin quashed the service of summons on Paar and Kennedy, former Senate rackets committee counsel.

Judge Levin, ruling on a question of jurisdiction, held with Paar and Kennedy that they had been improperly served outside Michigan.

The judge also ordered a hearing Sept. 19 on a motion by NBC to quash the charge.

The case against Paar and Kennedy stands, but they would have to be served in Michigan in order to preserve it. The practice of most courts is to dismiss cases if proper service is not completed within a reasonable period.

Paar contended he had been wrongfully served in New York City. Kennedy claimed improper service at his home at McLean, Va.

In its motion to quash, NBC said it had been served wrongly through a Detroit sales representative who was not authorized to accept such service.

LIQUIDITY

People ask: "How may I get my money back?"

That is a matter of liquidity. Practically all the funds of this Association are invested in first mortgages on homes in this Community which were originally drawn to run about 11 years and which are repaid in monthly installments of principal and interest. We always keep on hand a fair amount of cash to meet emergency withdrawals from savings, but obviously, in order to earn the customary dividend of 4% and build up reserves, we must keep the bulk of our money at work and invest it in first mortgages which are not immediately convertible into cash.

A number of years ago our local bank extended to us a line of credit upon which we may draw to meet emergency withdrawals and this arrangement has worked out fine. For more than 20 years we have been able to meet all reasonable withdrawals without upsetting the delicate balance between liquidity and investment.

Rail Merger Talks Fruitless

NEW YORK (AP)—The presidents of three big eastern railroads failed to agree Monday on a possible three-way merger.

Howard E. Simpson of the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad met with Alfred Perlman of the New York Central Railroad and Walter J. Tuohy of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway.

Simpson, who called the meeting at the request of B&O directors, said in a brief statement the talks adjourned without agreement. He said he will report back to the directors as soon as possible.

Spokesmen for Perlman and Tuohy said neither would have a statement.

The Central has been seeking a three-way merger of the roads. The C&O has opposed such a combination. Meanwhile, both railroads are bidding for control of the B&O through offers of exchanges of stock to B&O shareholders.

Four Ordered To Jail Pending Robbery Trial

FREDERICK (AP) — Circuit Judge Ralph G. Shure refused Monday to continue bond or set new ones for a group of men accused of a $10,000 holdup of patrons at a private club near here last April.

He ordered four of the five defendants committed to the Frederick County jail until Sept. 7 when their trial may begin.

Samuel W. Barrick, who recently took over the job of defense attorney, asked that the present bond of $20,000 for each man be continued or that new bonds be set.

The men originally were scheduled to go on trial Monday, but a delay was granted to permit Barrick more time to map the defense.

The defendants are Willie Charles Williams, Johnnie Douglas Boyd and Benjamin Greif, all of Newark, N.J.; Charles Robert Graves of East Orange, N.J., and James Charles Toland of Washington, D.C.

They were arrested in nearby Montgomery County about a half hour after patrons of the Spartan Club were robbed of cash and jewelry last April 11.

Graves was released on bond after the original arraignment, but is now serving a 5-to-15 year term for robbery, assault with a dangerous weapon and housebreaking in the District of Columbia.

Howard Levine, Washington attorney, withdrew from the case and Barrick succeeded him as defense counsel.

State's Highway Death Toll Seven Ahead Of 1959

By The Associated Press
Two accidents just before midnight Sunday marred Maryland's "Deathless Weekend" and pushed the state's highway death toll for 1960 to 320, or seven more than a year ago.

The victims included Kenneth Housley, 45, of Baltimore, and Mrs. Carolyn Doyle, 22, of the Westminster area.

Housley died when a car driven by his wife Maxine, 40, struck a parked tractor-trailer on a Baltimore street. Mrs. Housley suffered minor injuries.

Mrs. Doyle was killed on Maryland 32 in Carroll County in a head-on collision with a car driven by a 16-year-old boy.

Her husband, Thomas, 24, and a 16-month-old daughter, Patricia Lynn, were treated for minor injuries.

Prison Work Stoppages End

BALTIMORE (AP) — Work stoppages in Maryland's penal system because of dissatisfaction over a parole benefit plan came to an end Monday.

Nine hundred prisoners went to breakfast in normal fashion at the Maryland Penitentiary and then marched to their jobs in the laundry and shops within the prison walls.

They struck Aug. 8, about four days after 500 House of Correction inmates quit work at Jessup in protest of a plan whereby prisoners holding jobs outside the institution were allowed additional time off on their sentences.

About 75 inmates of the Reformatory for Males near Hagerstown also struck Aug. 8, but the protest lasted only one day. The House of Correction strikers returned to work at the end of last week.

The parole plan was declared illegal last week by Attorney General C. Ferdinand Sybert. The strikers were locked in their cells at the penitentiary and the House of Correction to forestall any violence.

A legislative committee has been named as a result of the dispute to study the prison parole setup.

Marital Dangers Listed By Adventist Counselor

BALTIMORE (AP) — Marriage can be miserable, a home educator for the Seventh-Day Adventist Church told the annual meeting of the Chesapeake Conference Monday.

Arch O. Dart, director of home and parent education at Adventist world headquarters in Washington, listed four wedges which interfere with marital bliss: Religious misunderstandings, financial stresses, hindrance from other people and cooling of companionship.

Dart, a professional marriage counselor as well as an Adventist minister, warned newlyweds that "your marriage won't transplant you from the weepth of frustration to the garden of delight."

"The majority of couples who approach marriage as a panacea for the ills of their emotional, business, and interpersonal indignities are sadly disappointed," he said.

"It takes 18 to 24 months for couples to learn to know each other after marriage. These are the most dangerous days of marriage. Slight differences cause some to panic, and homes which need a little tune-up often are relegated to the junk heap."

The 10-day Adventist conference in suburban Catonsville continues until next Saturday.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

The Nemesis Of Nail-Biting

When little girls—and big girls—bite their nails, it's a sign of tension. They are the worriers, high strung and sensitive. Scolding only makes them more so, affecting the cause without effecting a cure.

Such tenseness isn't necessarily a serious problem, but it rates paying some attention to the events that conjure up nervous habits in anxiety-prone people. Is too much expected of them? Do they expect too much of themselves? Then they must watch that work-load, they must practice ways to prevent unnecessary pressures from becoming pent up.

Anniversary Tea To Be Sept. 14

Plans were made for the "Anniversary Tea" at the meeting of the Melvin WSCS, held in the form of a picnic at the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent DeLaGrange on Patterson Creek. It will be September 14 at 2 p.m., under the direction of Mrs. Jane Fier and Mrs. Blanche Speir.

A report on prayerbooks sent to service men was given by Mrs. Raymond May. The prayer group is to meet at 7:30 tonight. Mrs. DeLaGrange conducted the meeting and announced literature has been ordered. Mrs. Speir reported $71.07 received from the supper and $14.65 from the sale. Mrs. Dorothy Valentine was named to serve in the nursery. The sunshine report included 33 cards sent and 16 calls made. Plans were made for a soup and pie sale, September 22, beginning at noon.

"Light for Today's Children" was the theme for the worship, directed by Mrs. Speir. Margaret Atkinson, Sharon Brannon and Alexis Yankee sang, "Jesus Love Little Children." Mrs. Fier offered prayer and spoke on the "Rights of the Child." Mrs. Valentine read the Scripture. Mrs. Ronald Brannon spoke on the society's work with children.

During the social hour a forfeit party was held.

Ladies 659 Outing

The Ladies Auxiliary 659 to the Carpenter's Local, 1024 will hold a corn roast August 20, at 8 p.m., on the lawn at the home of Mrs. Gladys Zembower, Bedford Valley.

In case of rain it will be held in the house.

Regular business meetings of the auxiliary will be resumed September 26 at 7:30 in the Labor Temple.

Meanwhile, what about those well-chewed nails? Bad-tasting medicines and gloves are just about as successful as scolding. Most nail-biters are quite unconscious of what they do and when, even with these irritating reminders.

Until... an important occasion comes along and they want to look nice. Even small tots rue their ravaged hands on party days. Which just asks for a mother-maniicurist and some light pink polish, to start off a chain reaction against biting.

Vanity, then, is about the only appeal that will reach nail-biters. Add, in the case of teenagers and adult women, a strong whiff of will power.

There is a new product now that helps build up and strengthen nails, gives them a sleek look sooner. That should deter nibbling, because nails that begin to look nicer might provoke a biter to pause before plunging ahead with those incisors. She should inquire about such nail-hardeners at a beauty salon or cosmetic counter. To do-it-yourself is possible with them, but perhaps the confirmed nail-biter should treat herself to a professional nail-treatment. The manicurist's expert touch and advice is worth the price. And, somehow, spending real MONEY on your nails injects vigor into vanity, purpose into will-power.

Diet, too, designs stronger, prettier nails, nails not-so-easy-to-eat. Proteins will do it. Lots of meat, eggs, poultry, cheese and milk. And unflavored gelatin, dissolved daily in fruit juice or water. Tried, true—and tasteless. It may take a couple of months to see the results, but patience will prove it.

Temporarily, try phony finger-nails, especially for special occasions. They will hide the ragged stubs you are trying to cultivate. And all the while they will remind you of the lovely long nails you WILL have, someday soon. As soon as you say goodbye to biting.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Stella Merrick, 12, who was rushed here by ambulance from Garrett County July 29, was reported in good condition Monday at City Hospitals.

"She is doing very well and eating normally," a hospital spokesman said. "But she may have to remain in the hospital another couple weeks."

Navy Vets May Now Re-Enlist At Old Rate

The Navy has announced a list of "open rates" in which certain former regular Navy and Naval Reserve personnel may enlist or re-enlist in the regular Navy in the same rate at the time of discharge.

Chief C. B. Epps, local recruiter, said former regular Navy men who have been discharged over three months but less than four years and Naval Reserve personnel who have been discharged or released from active duty over three months but less than two years may take advantage of the program.

Naval Reserve personnel, who had been discharged or released for more than two years and ex-regular Navy men who have been discharged more than four years but less than six years, may enlist or re-enlist in the next lower rate held at the time of discharge or release.

Chief Epps said the "open rate" program covers rates in the deck, ordnance, electronics, precision equipment, administrative and clerical, engineering and hull, construction and aviation rating groups.

The Navy also has opened its enlistment program again to ex-servicemen of other branches of the armed forces.

Additional information may be obtained at the local recruiting office in the Post Office Building here or the recruiting office at 37 North Mineral Street, Keyser.

Contractor Begins Rehabilitation Task

Rehabilitation of the intersection of Decatur and Davidson streets, scene of a break in a 24-inch water main last Wednesday, is under way, according to Water Commissioner G. Ray Light.

He said the Hout Construction Company yesterday began clearing rubble from the site and hauling it away.

Mr. Light said Water Department crews will backfill the excavated area after the C&A Gas Company repairs gas mains in the area.

Surfacing will be in charge of the contractor, he said.

Broken Line Boosts Water Consumption

Water consumption took a big jump last week but most of the water went down the drain when a water main burst.

The Mayor and Council was told yesterday that water use averaged 18,401,000 daily last week, up sharply from last year's 12,657,000.

The lost water had little effect upon the reservoirs, as Lake Gordon was within 1 1/4 feet of the spillway Sunday, and Lake Koon within a foot of the crest.

A Marine color guard raised the American flag at the center pavilion to officially begin the Cumberland Fair.

Much of yesterday afternoon was spent adding the finishing touches to the numerous exhibits at the fair. Workmen completed setting up the accompanying carnival rides, shows and concessions with an air of quiet authority and exhibitors rushed their last-minute entries to lend an air of excitement prior to the evenings official opening.

Group Protests Tanks Using Streets

The Mayor and Council will ask for a meeting with commanders at the local National Guard Army in Ridgedale Addition concerning protests of residents in the area over damage to a street by tanks.

Six residents signed a letter to council in which they pointed out that on August 13 at 10 a. m., military personnel assigned to the Army brought a tank down Cartmell and Ridgedale avenues into Lake Avenue and west on Lake to McMullen Highway on a dangerous curve. It was pointed out that the tank did not have a police escort.

The letter says that in passing on Cartmell and Ridgedale, considerable damage was done to the lightly-surfaced street which had recently been worked by the city. It further states this is not the first time damage had been done.

Street Commissioner John J. Long asked council to recall that he had broached the matter a couple months ago. He pointed out it was not trucks doing the damage but the tractor treads on tanks when they made sharp turns despite the fact they are equipped with pavement treads.

He said the city went to the expense of getting the streets repaired and added having them torn up shortly thereafter appears to be "poor business."

City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum said he had talked with commanders at the Army some time ago and had been told negotiations were underway to purchase a farm outside the city to keep the tanks. Nuzum said he had hoped this would have been settled. When tanks are moved in the city, Nuzum said no permission is asked each time and it is only afterward that the city finds out about it.

City Attorney William R. Carscaden said the city could put weight limits on streets concerned as it has elsewhere but at the same time pointed out the city wanted to cooperate with Army officials. He then suggested the meeting to work out a solution and Long agreed it is the thing to do.

St. Patrick's Lists Changes In Faculty

Three new nuns will be on the faculty of St. Patrick's Parochial School for the 1960-61 term, according to Right Rev. Msgr. J. Lawrence Kilkenny, pastor of St. Patrick's parish.

Joining the faculty will be Sister Marie William, Sister Baptista and Sister Angelico. They are replacing Sisters Raymond, Rita and Emmanuella, who have been transferred to other assignments, Msgr. Kilkenny said.

According to Sister Lenore, principal of St. Patrick's and Catholic Girls Central High School, Sister Marie William will succeed Sister Rita as second grade teacher. Sister Baptista will teach the seventh grade, formerly taught by Sister Emmanuella, and Sister Angelico will have the eighth grade, succeeding Sister Raymond.

Sister Marie William comes here from the motherhouse of the School Sisters of Notre Dame in Baltimore. Sister Baptista previously taught at Our Lady of Good Counsel in Baltimore, and Sister Angelico was a member of the faculty of St. James School, Baltimore.

Sister Rita has been reassigned to Our Lady of Good Counsel School in Baltimore; Sister Raymond to St. Anthony's School, South Ozone Park, N. Y., and Sister Emmanuella has been named superior of St. Paul's School, Elliott City.

Sister Lenore said orientation periods will be held Thursday and Friday, September 1-2, for freshman students at Girls Central, with the orientation scheduled for the morning hours.

All classes in the high will report for the first day of school on Tuesday, September 6, and the grade school classes the following day, Sister Lenore said. The first day will be a half-day, she added.

Imler Charged With Larceny

Alfred Thomas Imler, 52, of 221 South Spruce Street, was charged with grand larceny yesterday and will be tried in Allegany County Circuit Court.

James S. Getty, state's attorney, said Imler was charged on a warrant obtained by Det. Thomas See from Magistrate Paul Barnett.

Imler was charged in connection with the theft of $1,085 from Ritter's Tavern, Paca Street, this past Saturday. Det. See said all but $3 of the money has been recovered.

The man was questioned yesterday in the State's Attorney's Office and gave a statement to authorities.

Getty said the man indicated he wanted an immediate trial. Criminal information papers will be filed in the court later this week, Getty said.

City Passes Ordinance On Street, Sewer

The Mayor and Council yesterday approved an ordinance for the sewer and otherwise improving of Memorial Avenue from its intersection with Quebec Avenue north a distance of 945 feet.

Cost of the project will be charged to property owners.

At the same time, council approved an ordinance for closing East Lane, a 15-foot street in Tusculum Addition, between its intersection with Fayette Street and North Terrace. Certain restrictions are included allowing the city to service the eight-inch sewer beneath the area. Commissioners named to ascertain damages if any are Bert Graham, H. B. Simpson and James A. Perrin, local realtors.

In bid activity yesterday, council authorized Police and Fire Commissioner Philmore Fleming to advertise for 47 reefers (coats) for the Police Department.

Mayor J. Edwin Keech was authorized to ask bids for intercommunication radio systems for the Police, Water, Street and Flood Maintenance Departments. City Engineer Charles R. Nuzum is to prepare specifications.

The bid $23,477 by the Hout Construction Company for laying of the base on Frederick Street from Linden Street to the end of the concrete, was accepted.

Bids on two sets of dictaphone equipment offered for sale by the Mayor and Council also were opened. Bidding on one set are Cumberland Chamber of Commerce, Catherman's Business School, Dr. W. R. Brodell and Dr. Milton S. Granet. The law firm of Cobey, Carscaden, Gilchrist and Getty bid on both sets. Bids were referred to the finance commissioner.

16 State Issues Will Appear On Next Ballot

ANNAPOLIS (AP) — Should Maryland approve a new Potomac River Compact with Virginia? Set up a new line of succession to the governorship? Expand the Court of Appeals? Permit lower assessments for farmland in metropolitan areas? These are some of the 16 questions voters will be asked to decide on a statewide basis in the general election Nov. 8. In addition, local questions will be added to the ballots in some counties.

The Secretary of State's office has prepared for the ballot a list of 15 proposed changes in the State Constitution which have cleared the General Assembly. Although some are local in nature, all require statewide approval. The 16th issue is the Potomac River Compact with Virginia. The document giving Virginia an equal voice in administration of the Potomac fishery was ratified by the Maryland Legislature but was petitioned onto the ballot by voters led by Southern Maryland watermen, who oppose it.

Here is the list of questions in the order they will appear on the ballot for voters to register "for" or "against":

1. Empowering Circuit judges and the Supreme Bench of Baltimore City to fill a vacancy in the office of State's attorney for their jurisdiction.
2. Permitting land acquisition in Baltimore County by paying the appraised value of the property to the owner or into court, with security for the payment of any additional costs which might be awarded by a jury.
3. Permitting the state to borrow, against anticipated tax collections, any sums necessary to meet temporary deficiencies in the treasury and issue short term notes to provide for appropriation already made by the Legislature.
4. Creating a Municipal Court for Baltimore City to replace the present system of police and traffic magistrates.
5. Granting the General Assembly power to authorize urban renewal programs for any county or incorporated municipality. (Only Baltimore City now has such authority).

6. Letting candidates, in addition to the incumbent judge, run for election to the People's Court of Baltimore City.

7. Permitting acquisition of unimproved land in Montgomery County by paying the owner or court the appraised value of such property with security for payment of any further sums to be awarded by a jury.

8. Creating two new circuit judgeships in Prince Georges County and removing any bar to members of the General Assembly being appointed to such judgeships.

9. Prohibiting a newly elected General Assembly from acting on bills vetoed by the governor from the previous General Assembly.

10. Providing that in event of a vacancy in the office of governor the line of succession shall be:

13. Empowering the General Assembly to provide for the separate assessment, classification and sub-classification of land.

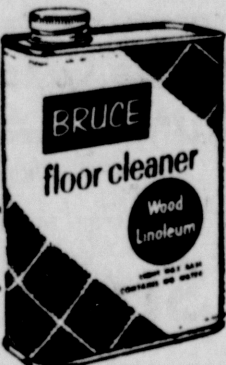

14. Authorizing the General Assembly to provide that land actively devoted to farm or agricultural use shall be assessed on the basis of such use and not as if subdivided. (Aimed at continuing lower farm assessments in metropolitan areas, which the Court of Appeals has ruled invalid under present terms of the constitution).

Alaska's Capital: Will It Stay Put?

The boom that accompanied the nation's stepped-up defense concentrated Alaska's growing population in a few favored cities, swelling them with people and local pride—and catapulting the territory into statehood.

One such beneficiary, Anchorage, grew bold enough to challenge old sourdough Juneau's right to be the state capital. Much was made of the point that Juneau is inaccessible to most of Alaska except by air or water.

As Alaska's largest city, Anchorage made its bid in the state's second primary. But sentimental ties, plus the cost and inconvenience of moving state business and employees up the south-eastern panhandle into the heart of Alaska, went against it. So storied Juneau, whose prosperity flowed and ebbed with the gold rush, retains the honor.

For whatever consolation it's worth, though, Anchorage will remain the point of call for visiting Presidential candidates. To them, the attractions of the Anchorage-Fairbanks area (population 150,000, including military personnel) far outweigh the charms of Juneau (population 7,100).

If Juneau patriots are wise, though, they will take a lesson from the experience of other territories newly turned states, which sometimes included the moving of a county seat—if not the capital—in the middle of the night.

This involved moving the deed book by horse, but Juneau minutemen must guard both sky and water.

These Days

Twisted Thinking

A correspondent writes on a postcard:

"Here is a phase of American life, a child sees his parents living in dark dingy rooms. The parents are doing their best. Then you read of all the (swells) with several homes something like yourself. I think this system is rotten; the same applies to many other things. What do you think?"

There is nothing rotten about the system. The writer of this card objects to anyone having more than he has. My father, I am sure, had as little or less. He was a holy man whose earnings were limited by religious impediments. There were too many things he could not, in conscience, do, but which others, of different religions, could, in conscience do. These limitations prevented our family from becoming wealthy, although we were, on the whole happy.

My father could have gone in for cloaks and suits or manufacturing pants or being a butcher. Many of those whom we knew in my childhood became enormously wealthy from such lowly beginnings. I knew of a tailor who became a banker and a butcher who became a chicken king. In fact, my father lent the latter five dollars to start him in business and he became enormously rich out of that five dollars that my father lent him. How, is another story. But, in the end, his competitors bombed him because he used to undersell them by feeding the chickens gravel and water in New Jersey. My father was never bombed—perhaps because he never did very much.

Nevertheless, we all managed to live—there were nine of us in the family, including our parents. None of us ever became very wealthy, but we managed. And if this reader objects to my owning a farm, in addition to living in a New York City tenement, I can only tell him that I have worked many years since I got my first Summer job at the age of 10 and have never found that the system interfered with my opportunities until recently, when the income tax began to take too much of my earnings.

Naturally, I do not know my correspondent and therefore do not know what psychological or physical impediments prevent him from making out. This is still the land of opportunity as anyone must know who works at it. For instance, lots of folks make a fuss over Leonard Bernstein, but he was not born of the Rockefellers or Astors. His father was a small self-employed merchant in Lawrence outside of Boston and Bernstein achieved his enormous success by working hard and learning much.

Ah! My correspondent will probably say: "Bernstein has great talent but I am a common, ordinary person." Every man has some gift that God gave him. So many do not take advantage of their gifts or their opportunities.

Look at Richard Nixon, now running for President. His father was a small town grocer who had never done too well. Dick tended store and poured gasoline into automobiles and when I first met him I am sure that his suit came from one of those stores that give two pairs of pants with each suit. And now, he is a great man, Vice President of the United States.

And there is a chance for the rich man, too, although there was a time in this country when if a man was not born in a log cabin, he could not run for President. Our prejudice against the born rich has lessened. In this campaign year, Kennedy and Johnson are wealthy, and Henry Cabot Lodge comes of a family of great distinction and social prestige. The prejudice against the rich no longer excludes them from opportunity.

My correspondent is all wrong. This is still the land of great opportunity for those who will work hard, who will build mind and character, who will take advantage of what is offered them. The sorrows, the sorrows, the man who prefers his hates to his blessings, will, of course, get nowhere. That is reasonable. If my correspondent should happen to be a Negro—I can not, of course, tell—I can only call his attention to the fact that one of the greatest statesmen in the world today, recognized by every government for his merit and his achievements is Ralph Bunche, an American Negro who might one day be Secretary of State.

'But He's Two Months Older Now'

New York Jewish Voters Leaning Democratic

By Joseph Alsop

WHITE PLAINS, N.Y.

Here in White Plains, the Rosedale development is a prosperous, rather pretty enclave. The wide lawns are green and neatly clipped. For once in a way, the developers have left a few trees. The semi-modern, split-level houses originally cost from $25,000 up, and they still look it. All together, you would say, a good advertisement for the affluent society.

Politically, too, Rosedale is interesting, because all but three or four of Rosedale's fifty or more families are Jewish. The men, who mostly commute to New York, are salesmen of almost everything on earth, small dress manufacturers, dentists, pharmacists, accountants, and the like. The place is a microcosm, in short, of the middle-to-upper income Jewish group, which is always so indicative in New York State.

This group is indicative, in turn, because it always shows the first signs of any real Republican inroads into New York's massive, vitally important and normally Democratic Jewish vote. For obviously, prosperous Jewish people are more likely to vote Republican than poor Jewish people. But this time, if Rosedale is any test, no such likelihood exists.

The imagination of the people of Rosedale has certainly not been captured by Sen. John F. Kennedy. Only a minority really like and admire Kennedy. The numerous and ardent partisans of Adlai Stevenson positively dislike the man who stopped the draft-Stevenson movement before it even got started. A common Rosedale attitude was well expressed by a Rosedale dentist's intelligent wife, Mrs. Sandra Gold:

"Let's put it this way. I'm for Kennedy because I'm anti-Nixon, and because I think Kennedy will at least use men like Adlai Stevenson and Chester Bowles."

As of now, in fact, the strong Democratic tide in Rosedale is largely traceable to the dislike of Richard M. Nixon, which is widespread among the Rosedale people. They are almost all enthusiastic about Henry Cabot Lodge, although not enthusiastic enough about Lodge to change their party vote. Nelson A. Rockefeller would probably get a majority of Rosedale for the presidency, as he did for the governorship.

But in this community, Nixon is almost a dirty word in a great many households. This may not be true on election day, to be sure. An impressive number of Rosedale people said they had been "surprised" by the moderation and the effectiveness of Nixon's acceptance speech at Chicago. He may win them over, or at least win a good many over, in the end. But it is really more probable that Kennedy will win over the numerous Rosedale voters who say they are "undecided"—and are only undecided because they still resent Kennedy's victory over Stevenson.

Such are the broad results of a day's doorbell ringing which covered almost every house in Rosedale, forty-seven to be exact. Of these households, eleven had chosen Eisenhower against Stevenson in 1956. No less than twenty-two had chosen Nelson Rockefeller against Averell Harriman for the governorship in 1958. But only two lonely households cast a positive vote for Nixon; and one of these two for Nixon was also one of Rosedale's rare non-Jewish households.

Kennedy meanwhile, got the more or less reluctant vote of twenty-six Rosedale households, leaving nineteen in the "undecided" column. The former Eisenhower voters were divided, two for Nixon, two for Kennedy, and seven undecided. The former Rockefeller voters were divided, two for Nixon, eight for Kennedy, and twelve undecided.

Distrust of Nixon in other words, has either driven the Republican-voting Rosedale people into the arms of Kennedy, or it has put them into the doubtful column, whence Kennedy can quite easily extract them, if he gains the strong personal support of Rosedale which he now rather lacks.

As already noted, Nixon also has a chance to pick up votes in Rosedale by more campaigning on the level of his acceptance speech. But it will be uphill work for Nixon. These people want to be persuaded to like Kennedy, whereas, if they are finally made to like Nixon, it will be against their will.

Issues, as seen from Rosedale, will also work against Nixon on the whole.

Nine-tenths of the households held that foreign policy was the No. 1 national problem. At least half of them spoke angrily about America's "loss of prestige," or "loss of leadership," or "loss of respect" abroad. This was directly blamed on the Eisenhower Administration.

Moreover, Kennedy appeared to be surprisingly unharmed by the so-called religious issue. One housewife gloomily opined that he might be in "cohears" with the pope, but she cast her vote for him all the same. Except for the Malapropism, she was typical of the small minority who felt any concern whatever about Kennedy's Catholicism.

As of now, in sum, it is a good bet that in 1960 New York's Jewish voters will be more heavily Democratic than ever. But at this stage of the election it is certainly a far from sure bet.

FUNDS FOR DEMOS—The Democratic Party, habitually close to insolvency, has hit upon an idea it hopes will provide it with much-needed funds.

It is publishing a new cookbook titled "Many Happy Returns," containing the favorite recipes of a host of prominent Democratic people. It sells for $3 per spiral-bound copy and is replete with wit and humor and clever sketches.

Mrs. John Kennedy, wife of the Democratic Presidential nominee, contributes her recipe for waffles, a rather complicated thing in these days of pre-prepared mixes.

Mrs. Stuart Symington, wife of the Missouri Senator, who almost got the Vice Presidential nod, tells all about how to whip up a batch of chocolate brownies.

There is a foreword by Frank Sinatra, leader of the Hollywood "ratpack" to which actor Peter Lawford, a brother-in-law of the Kennedys, belongs.

It makes a fine thing to have around the house, particularly for Democrats who want to eat well and support their party at the same time. However, we can't help but wonder how many of the recipes could actually be prepared by the women who submitted them.

SENATORS—With both the Republican and Democratic Presidential candidates coming from the United States Senate, there's a lot of discussion about previous candidates from this source.

A little research turns up the following. Six members of the U.S. Senate have been nominated for the Presidency by one or the other of the major political parties since 1832. They were:

Henry Clay of Kentucky, nominated by the Whig Party in 1832; Lewis Cass of Michigan, by the Democrats in 1848; Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois, by the Democrats in 1860; Warren G. Harding of Ohio, by the Republicans in 1920; Robert M. LaFollette of Wisconsin, by the Progressives in 1924, and Kennedy by the Democrats this year.

Nixon can't be counted in this list because he gave up his Senate seat eight years ago to serve as Vice President. James A. Garfield of Ohio had been elected to the Senate when he was voted into the Presidency as the Republican standard bearer in 1880. He took the oath as President—never as Senator.

So there it is. The only man ever to make it to the White House directly from the Senate was Warren Harding.

The Injection Treatment For Painful Heel

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A painful heel may respond to a mixture of Xylocaine and hydrocortone which, when injected into the tender area, gives immediate relief. Pain returns in 8 to 10 hours but wanes gradually and disappears completely by the end of 7 to 14 days. This treatment has been used at the University of California medical center and looks promising.

The injection plan is not a cure-all, however, because there are many causes for pain in this area. The heel consists of a bone surrounded by tendons, muscles, tough fibrous tissues, and a bursa. Distress may stem from injury, inflammation, or a bony spur. Clues to the cause are obtained by X-rays and by pressing the area to determine the part that is tender.

John's experience is typical of the situation as it existed 10 years ago. He developed pain in heel that was aggravated by standing or walking. In time it became so severe he was unable to get about. His family physician recommended X-ray, which showed a small spur projecting from the front part of the heel bone.

Conservative measures were suggested because the sharp, bony projection had been present long before pain appeared and probably was not responsible for his trouble. The spur was not pointing downward and sticking into soft tissue like a stiletto, as some spurs do. If it had been, operation would have been advised.

John was instructed to take hot foot baths at night and the physician glued a soft rubber foam pad into the heel of the shoe. Partial relief followed. But consultation was suggested because pain continued. The specialist recommended a 10 day rest

That rich Texan has bobbed up in the news again. This time he's rumored to have popped up in Montego Bay, Jamaica, with 14 suitcases, nine sets of skis, a toboggan, and 14 Eskimo dogs. The customs inspectors at the Montego Bay airport were aghast, of course. "This is a tropical island," explained one weakly. "All this equipment is useless here. Our mean temperature is over 80 degrees. Snow is absolutely unknown."

"Sure, sure," agreed the Texan genially. "I know all about the lack of snow now but cheer up, boys, I'm sending it in with the rest of my luggage."

Interviewing prospective secretaries, a boss not yet too old to dream, was dazzled by the most

Ike's Flip-Flops Contributed To Poor Latin American Relations

By Drew Pearson

About the time he had learned the ropes in Cuba, Gardner was replaced by another big contributor to Ike's campaign fund, Wall Street broker Ear. F. C. Smith. Smith distinguished himself by attending the World Series games in New York while he was supposed to be in Havana, by going out to the Sierra Madres where Fidel Castro was fighting. The resultant headlines made it appear that he sided with Castro.

Having sent Ambassadors to Cuba who vacillated between pro-Batista and pro-Castroism, Ike finally sent a career diplomat, Philip Bonsal, who has tried unsuccessfully to pick up the broken diplomatic crockery.

Flip-Flops on Finances—When Eisenhower first came into office he appointed as Assistant Secretary of State for Latin America a career diplomat, John Cabot, cousin of Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge. Cabot is a conscientious career officer but made one serious mistake. He differed with the most powerful man in the Cabinet—Secretary of the Treasury George Humphrey.

Humphrey wanted loans to Latin America to come through the World Bank, which meant, in effect, they had to be OK'd by Wall Street. Though he held the purse strings of the export-import bank, he was against loaning more than a few dribbles to Latin America. He even wanted to kill the ex-im bank.

Assistant Secretary Cabot argued to the contrary. He claimed that the international bankers had no conception of social and economic problems of Latin America; that sometimes a nation had to be helped, even though not a gilt-edged risk, when it was fighting a battle against Communism.

Communist Danger Helps At about that time, Latin American nations saw Mohammed Ali of Pakistan come to Washington and go home with a gift of $105,000,000—all because his country was near the Soviet border. They saw Iran, also on the Soviet border, get $240,000,000 and they saw Egypt get a promise of $100,000,000.

So the Latins decided, a little bitterly, that perhaps they needed to wave the red flag a little.

At about this time, Cabot was eased out, made Ambassador to Sweden. Later, when Clare Booth Luce kicked up such a rumpus over her ambition to become Ambassador to Brazil, Cabot was sent to replace her. He had flip-flopped from Latin-American affairs to Sweden then back to Latin America.

Later, this tight-fisted fiscal policy toward Latin America also flip-flopped. It began to flip-flop through a change of mind by Secretary Humphrey himself.

Humphrey's M. A. Hanna Company in Cleveland cast its eye on a British gold mining company, St. Joao D'Elert in Minas Gerais, Brazil where it proposed abandoning the gold and developing a 3,000,000,000-ton deposit of adjacent iron ore, one of the richest and most neglected in the world.

Ironically, many Brazilian Congressmen are now opposing development of this rich iron deposit by Humphrey's company, and such potent international lobbyists as Herbert Hoover, Jr., son of the ex-President and a director of Humphrey's company, have had to make several trips to Brazil to try to confirm the ore contract.

This has not particularly helped our Latin American relations. It's given the impression that we are out for profits, not friendship; that we loosen up our purse-strings when big mineral deposits are at stake, not before. And the trips by Herbert Hoover, Jr., to persuade the Brazilian Government to give his company the ore deposit have partially counteracted the goodwill trip of President Eisenhower.

Last month came the final financial flip-flop, when President Eisenhower announced that he was asking Congress for $600,000,000 for credits and grants to Latin America. If this had come six or even four years ago it would have done a lot of good. But by now a Latin-American bank has already been set up for development loans, Germany industry and the Russian government have offered credits, and most Latin Americans are inclined to agree with Fidel Castro that "you can thank me for this $600,000,000."

It's a case of a lot of money too late.

Anti-Trust's Role

By Leslie Gould

In the developing fight for control of the $700 million Union Oil Co. of California, the man being watched is 33-year-old Robert A. (for Alan) Bicks, acting head of the Anti-Trust Division of the Justice Department.

Phillips Petroleum Co. — No. 8 in the industry — now holds more than 14 per cent of Union oil's stock, bought in a raiding operation in the open market.

Gulf Oil Corp. — No. 2 in the industry — is a holder since 1956 of $120 million Union Oil debentures, convertible at prices well above the current market into 26 per cent of the California company's stock.

Bicks, whose confirmation to the key Justice Department post is now before the Senate, is the nemesis of big, successful business in general and the oil industry in particular.

He has been acting head of Anti-Trust since April of last year, and for three years prior to that as No. 2 man he actually ran the department. It wasn't until May of this year that President Eisenhower sent his nomination to the Senate.

The reason for this long delay was the controversies Bicks had stirred by his aggressive handling of anti-trust. He has been the toughest and most active trust buster since Thurman Arnold of the New Deal days.

Last year the department under Bicks filed 63 anti-trust cases, the most since 1943 when Arnold brought 70.

The oil industry has been one of Bicks' major targets. Threat of an injunction caused Texaco and Superior Oil in September of last year to call off a merger. Standard Oil of Ohio gave up in January of this year plans to acquire Leonard Refineries of Michigan when the department filed injunction proceedings.

Although in neither case were the companies involved really competitive, both deals were called off rather than face the years of involved litigation, not to mention the expense.

The anti-trust case that riled the oil industry the most was the indictment of 29 major companies on charges of conspiring to fix crude oil and gasoline prices at the time of the Suez crisis. The case was tried earlier this year and all the companies and individuals were exonerated solely on the basis of the government's own evidence.

So outraged were leaders of the industry as to the Anti-Trust Division's resorting to criminal indictments, that Augustus C. Long, board chairman of Texaco, was prompted to write his stockholders: "Those entrusted with the great administrative power created by these (anti-trust) laws should be people of wisdom, experience and judgment."

"They should not be inclined toward making irresponsible charges of a grave nature on the basis of nothing but suspicion.... The recent record of the Department of Justice suggests that the time has come for an objective reappraisal, at the highest government levels, of the manner in which this vital field of law enforcement is being administered.

Interest in what Bicks does in the Union Oil case centers on his general philosophy that concentration, such as in the great steel and motor car industries, must be prevented from developing in the petroleum industry. This was the basis of the attacks on the Superior Oil-Texaco merger and the Standard Oil of Ohio acquisition of Leonard Refineries.

So far, he has taken no public position, explaining to those who inquire that it is at the moment a Federal Trade Commission case. The FTC and the Anti-Trust Department have jurisdiction in the anti-trust field, but FTC lacks the injunctive powers to block a deal. The injunction on the other hand is the chief weapon of the Anti-Trust Division to tie up a merger or consolidation.

FTC also is following at present a hands-off policy because Phillips is contending that as of now it is only an "investor" in Union. This also is the position of Gulf.

In the case of Gulf this may be so today, although the general feeling was that when Gulf made its investment in Union Oil debentures a merger would be the final result. However, this idea may have been changed, since in recent months Gulf has acquired Wilshire Oil, a major marketer in the Union Oil territory.

The Phillips "investment" is not so easily explained. The whole market operation is typical of a take-over.

Yankees Edge Orioles, 4-3, Pirates, White Sox Lose

Mantle Belts Pair As N.Y. Regains Lead

Courtney's Muff Of Foul Precedes Winning Wallop

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mickey Mantle, publicly humiliated by manager Casey Stengel Sunday afternoon when he was yanked for failing to run out a ground ball, redeemed himself Monday night by smashing his 28th and 29th homers to drive in all the runs in the New York Yankees' 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

The victory enabled the Yankees to regain first place and dropped the Orioles into a second-place tie with the White Sox, who lost to the Tigers, 4-1.

Mantle's second homer of the game in the eighth inning, which overcame a 3-2 Orioles' lead, came after catcher Clint Courtney muffed Mantle's easy foul pop behind home plate. Courtney overran the ball, circled under it and then had the ball bounce off the over-sized catcher's mitt he was using to handle the knuckle balls of losing pitcher Hoyt Wilhelm.

Art Ditmar, the Yankees' leading winner with a 12-7 record, went all the way for his fifth straight victory. He allowed only five hits but two were solo homers by Ron Hansen in the second and Jackie Brandt in the eighth.

Mantle, who was roundly booed in his first appearance at the plate by the crowd of 24,233, smashed his first homer in the fourth inning after Hector Lopez led off with an infield single.

Jerry Walker, Baltimore's starter, was the victim of that blow and when he gave up another single to Bill Skowron and also walked Yogi Berra, he was replaced by Wilhelm, who finished the game.

Wilhelm pitched a 6-1 game, allowing only one run in the fourth inning. He struck out 10 batters and walked only one.

"Cokie" Robertson Notches 5th; 'Coney' Tops Franklin, 6-1

NEW YORK (UPI) — "Cokie" Robertson, Baltimore's ace pitcher, struck out 10 batters and walked only one in a 6-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Robertson, who is 10-1 on the season, struck out 10 batters and walked only one in a 6-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Robert "Cokie" Robertson was returned the victor over lefty Dave Wilson in yesterday's game. Each twirler yielded five hits and struck out five. The win gave Robertson a 5-0 record. Wilson is 2-3 for the season.

Bob Shaw of Franklin was the only player to obtain more than one hit. He collected two singles.

Dapper Cards Win First, 5-1; Miller Hits 3-Run Homer

Ralph Miller pitched and batted Manager Jim Ellisworth's Cardinals to a 5-1 triumph over the Braves yesterday at Penn Avenue Field in the first game of their Dapper Dan Little League best-of-three semi-final playoff series.

Miller tossed a 4-hitter, fanned seven and won his own game in the third inning when he blasted a three-run homer. Dick Chaney hit for the circuit in the fourth inning and Kenny Green rapped a double and single for the Dapper Division champs.

Kerry Kelly also hurled a 4-hitter for the Braves and struck out seven.

Bob Kelly garnered two hits and Dave Bruce had a two-bagger for the Braves.

The second game of the series is set for today at 6 p.m., at Constitution Park. Score:

Braves Lose, 5-3, Mathews Ejected

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Wally Post hit a homer and a three-run double to power the Cincinnati Reds to a 5-3 victory over the Milwaukee Braves Monday night in the opener of a two-night double header that was enlivened by a fist fight between Eddie Mathews and Frank Robinson.

The fight between Mathews and Robinson occurred at third base after the Cincinnati outfielder attempted to stretch a double into a triple during the seventh inning.

Both players exchanged words and Mathews landed a hard punch on Robinson's right eye, forcing him to retire from the game. Mathews was ejected from the game by the umpires.

Jim Maloney registered his first major league victory although he got relief help from Jim Brosnan who took over with a runner on and one out in the ninth inning.

Boston Hands 11-3 Beating To Washington

Ike Among 13,751 Persons At Game

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Boston Red Sox cooled off the red-hot Washington Senators Monday night with an 11-3 victory before 13,751 spectators, including President Eisenhower. The defeat dropped the Senators out of fourth place, a half-game behind the Cleveland Indians.

President Eisenhower said he had been attracted by the spirited play of the Senators who climbed into fourth place Sunday night by taking a double-header from the Yankees. The President saw little of the fine baseball which marked Washington's play for most of the season.

The Senators did enjoy a 3-0 lead until the fourth when rookie Lou Clinton homered with two on to tie the score. Clinton drove in five runs for his most productive game of his major league career. The Red Sox broke the tie with four runs in the sixth and then bombed each succeeding pitcher with the exception of Rudy Hernandez, who mopped up. Frank Sullivan was the winner after relieving Earl Wilson in the fifth.

Phils Defeat Pittsburgh By Score Of 4-3

Gonzalez' Pinch Double In Ninth Beats Elroy Face

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Tony Gonzalez smashed a two-out pinch double in the ninth inning Monday night to score Ruben Amaro with the run that gave the Philadelphia Phils a 4-3 victory over the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates.

The blow came off reliever Elroy Face, who was charged with his sixth defeat, but it gave Art Mahaffey his first major league victory. Gonzalez batted for Mahaffey and shot the ball to center field after pinchhitter Clay Dalrymple had singled. Bobby Malkmus ran for Dalrymple but was forced at second by Amaro.

Each team registered nine hits as the Pirates suffered their first defeat after a three-game winning streak against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Pirate starter Wilmer (Vinegar Bend) Mizell, bidding for his sixth straight victory, was lifted for a pinchhitter after going seven innings during which he allowed seven hits and three runs.

Both teams scored a pair of runs in the fourth inning. Frank Herrera led off with a walk. Bobby Gene Smith doubled and Jim Coker singled up the middle to give the Phils a short-lived 2-0 lead. The Pirates countered in that frame when Smoky Burgess doubled and Don Hoak followed with his 10th home run to right field.

The Phils went into the lead the next inning when Tony Taylor led off with a single to deep short. Ken Walters sacrificed and Lee Walls cracked a run-scoring single to left. The Pirates came back to tie in the seventh inning when Bill Virdon hit his seventh homer, a solo shot, into the right field stands. Dick Groat followed with a double and Rocky Nelson was purposely passed but Gino Cimoli flied out to left for the last out.

Bob Bruce, Tiger Rookie, Whips Chicago Sox, 4-1

Hurls Two-Hitter, Pale Hose In 2nd Place With Orioles

CHICAGO (AP) — Detroit rookie Bob Bruce recorded his first major league victory, defeating the Chicago White Sox and Herb Score 4-1 Monday night on a yield of 2 hits.

The loss dropped the Sox into a second place tie with Baltimore, one-half game behind the New York Yankees who climbed into the league lead with a 4-3 victory over the Orioles.

Detroit scored two runs without the aid of a hit in the first inning and added a pair of unearned runs in the ninth on Al Kaline's 11th homer with a man on base. Kaline was given life when right fielder Al Smith dropped his foul fly which would have ended the inning.

Aside from Kaline's homer, Score gave up an infield dribbler to Rocky Colavito in the third and a line single to Charley Maxwell in the eighth. He walked nine and fanned seven in suffering his seventh loss against three victories.

Paret Favored To Beat Moyer

NEW YORK (UPI) — Cuban Benny (Kid) Paret, world welterweight champion, is favored at 13-5 to beat contender Danny Moyer of Portland, Ore., Tuesday night in their non-title fight at Madison Square Garden.

Paret, 23, is favored because of his speed, ruggedness and stamina and because he succeeded where 21-year-old Moyer failed.

Cuban Benny won the 147-pound crown from Don Jordan on a unanimous decision at Las Vegas, Nev., last May 27. Moyer tried to take the crown from Jordan at Portland on July 10, 1959, and lost the decision.

New Potomac State Library Contract Let

Morgantown Firm Has $310,500 Bid

KEYSER—According to a statement Monday morning by Dr. E. E. Church, president of Potomac State College, the contract for the construction of a new library was let last Thursday to Baker and Coombs of Morgantown.

In his statement, President Church said that the work is scheduled to begin within a week and that the completion date has been set for April 30 of 1961. The contract price was $310,500.

James Coombs, president of the construction company, stated that wherever possible local labor would be employed on the project.

The site of the library will be the northwest section of the campus across the drive from the left front of the Administration Building. Morgantown architect Robert J. Bennett designed both the exterior and interior.

The architectural design of the three-story building, which will have shelving capacity for 37,000 volumes; the present library has some 15,000 volumes; will follow that of other campus buildings, red brick with white sandstone trim. An impressive feature will be the modern style entrance at the front with top to ground glass panels.

Included in the ground floor level will be the college book store, which is presently located in the Student Center, which will have its own entrance. Other features to be included are two audio-visual rooms for film presentations; a storage room for library materials; a seminar room to accommodate 75 persons; rest rooms; custodian's quarters; and a section for heating and mechanical equipment.

No plans have been released as to the use of the space to be vacated by the present library.

Tragic Lesson Saved Lives Of Eight Miners

Barricade Built In Lundale Fire

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—A tragic lesson taught by a mine fire that caused 18 deaths near Holden on March 8 may have saved the lives of eight other Logan County miners last week, West Virginia Mines Director Crawford Wilson said Monday.

The foreman of a supply crew at the Lundale mine of Amherst Coal Co. was credited with promptly directing his men to erect a barricade just after a fire started three miles inside the mine, and shortly before a car loaded with powder exploded.

The fire was started by a low-hanging trolley wire coming in contact with a metallic portion of the powder car, Wilson said.

The barricade of timber and brattice cloth was only partially erected when the first of two blasts went off, but it kept most smoke and coal dust from getting to the men.

By the time a second explosion occurred, the barricade had been completed, Wilson said.

As a result of the precautions, only one of the seven men still in the area at the time was hurt — and his injuries were not serious. The eighth member of the crew had moved promptly to notify rescue crews outside the mine after the fire broke out.

A recent report by Wilson's department said the 18 men who died of gas and smoke inhalation at the Holden-22 mine of Island Creek Coal Co. apparently did not think they were in any danger after a fire broke out, and made no effort to erect barricades to protect themselves.

Wilson said that at Lundale, about 40 miles east of the Holden-22 disaster, "we had at least two breaks." One was that the first explosion knocked out a partition and helped divert smoke away from the barricaded men. The other "break" occurred when the second blast blew rock dust around the barricade area, lessening the danger of the fire spreading to the men.

Market Handed Its First Loss In Eight Sessions

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market suffered its first setback in eight sessions Monday in some of the slowest trading of the year. It was a loss from the standpoint of the averages, which put the market only slightly below the previous close, although a tally of all stocks traded showed there were more advances than declines.

Industrials dropped 2.01 to 624.17, while rails and utilities managed to close with small gains on a noisy flurry just before the close. Brokers said that market sentiment apparently was dampened 16 to new highs, and 467 declined, 150 to new lows.

City Reports Progress On Budget Battle

Requests Must Be Trimmed $116,000

The battle of the budget began in earnest yesterday at City Hall. There were indications by late afternoon that the campaign to reconcile budget requests with expected income was about won.

The fiscal facts were presented by City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson, who reported that a tabulation showed that the various departments had requested $1,781,356 during the coming year. He estimated that the city will have about $1,665,000 available from the 1959-60 surplus, the tax levy and from miscellaneous sources of revenues.

It was with the knowledge that $116,000 had to be trimmed from the total budget requests that the talks were held.

Agrees On 20
Mayor J. Edwin Keech reported that during morning conferences, agreement was reached on the budgets for 20 appropriation items.

He said the other 16 were within the departments of Commissioners John J. Long and Philmore Fleming.

Lengthy conferences were held by the commissioners with Mr. Gibson during the day.

Mr. Gibson said the meetings were "very satisfactory" and that both commissioners expressed a desire to keep within the city's budget limitations.

Mr. Gibson said he will make a complete study of the budget and income today on the basis of decisions made yesterday.

He said that when all data is assembled, he will try to present a budget acceptable to the entire council.

May Set Monday
Unless complete agreement is reached, it may be necessary for city officials to call a special meeting this week to resolve any differences.

Agreement on the package would mean that the levy and budget ordinances would be adopted at Monday's meeting of the Mayor and Council.

Virtually every budget request was cut, but most of the budget items approved yesterday were a little higher than last year's expenditures.

Mayor Keech said the proposed budget includes $10,000 toward the support of the Allegany County Library. He said city aid will be phased out, with a $5,000 contribution next year and a final $2,500 year the year after.

Municipal Band May Be Deleted From Charter

A charter amendment resolution being prepared for submission at Monday's Council meeting would delete from the city charter three sections relating to the Municipal Band.

Plans for the action were taken yesterday after city officials ruled out a $6,500 budget requested by the Cumberland Municipal Concert Band.

The band was allowed $500 in last year's budget. The $6,500 appropriation was asked this year to cover the expenses of a director, rehearsals, music, instruments and allied costs of its local concerts.

A city spokesman said the city had to reduce some services and that the first to be affected was the band.

It was felt, the spokesman said, that people would rather have streets blacktopped than to have concerts in Constitution Park.

The city recognized, it was explained, that the band is a cultural asset to the city, and it was suggested that it operate as the Choral Society and Symphony Orchestra, rather than on a paid basis.

The possibility that other bands from the area might be hired for modest fees to present concerts here was mentioned.

Union And Kelly Continue Talks

Negotiators for Local 26, Rubber Workers Union, and the Kelly-Springfield Tire Company plant continued negotiations here yesterday in an attempt to reach a wage agreement.

A morning session was held yesterday and plans were made for the talks to resume today at 9:30 a. m. in the ballroom of the Fort Cumberland Hotel.

Members of the local, which represents some 1,800 hourly-paid workers at the Kelly plant, struck Friday at midnight as a result of a wage dispute.

Blue Cross Submits Plan On 'Cheaters'

Drastic Action Is Recommended

BALTIMORE (AP) — Blue Cross-Blue Shield came out Monday with a plan to crack down on Maryland subscribers and doctors who cheat — cancel the patients' hospitalization policy and revoke their physicians' hospital privileges.

The drastic action was among recommendations made to State Insurance Commissioner F. Douglas Sears by R. H. Dabney, executive director of the hospital-surgical insurance organization.

Blue Cross has asked Sears to approve higher rates. At a recent hearing the Medical and Surgical Faculty of Maryland said a survey showed that hospital facilities were being misused by both doctors and patients.

Sears ordered steps be taken to check the illegal practices, and a legislative committee reopened an investigation of hospital costs throughout the state.

"Unnecessary and uneconomical use of hospitals cannot be tolerated and firm measures must be brought to bear on those responsible," Dabney said in the report to Sears.

Dabney asked the Medical and Surgical Faculty and the Hospital Council to assist in the fight against abuse of the insurance plans.

Among other things, Blue Cross proposed that membership of any subscriber found guilty of improper use of hospital facilities be canceled.

The faculty would take disciplinary action against any physician guilty of improper hospital use and revoke his hospital privileges if necessary.

The hospitals, under the Blue Cross plan, would be required to include in the clinical record of each patient a statement by the attending physician justifying the medical necessity for his admission to the hospital, the services given, and the duration of the hospital stay.

The hospitals would be required to set up an utilization committee to review admissions and procedures.

The faculty, Hospital Council and Blue Cross would form a joint physician review board to study questionable cases referred to it. The three groups have scheduled a meeting Sept. 20.

Dabney said his organization was convinced that hospital-misuse problems "are not insurmountable," and can be solved "with the intelligent support of all concerned."

Dabney, in referring to the faculty survey disclosing the misuse of hospital facilities said it was "financed solely by the organizations of the radiologists and pathologists."

He said that "although we have not as yet been permitted to see this survey, we cannot believe that so many of the physicians of Maryland are guilty of such wholesale misuse of hospital facilities."

"On the contrary," he added, "we are convinced that the vast majority of physicians are conscientious in prescribing hospital care only when medically necessary."

Club Will Not Meet

The Cumberland Optimist Club will not hold its regular meeting this week because of the fund raising project at the Cumberland Fair.

Cattle Judging Features Today's Fair Activities

Beef and dairy cattle judging will feature today's activities along with children's day at the Cumberland Fair which officially opened last night at Fairgo.

Scheduled to begin at 9 a.m. at the livestock exhibit hibit the judging will continue throughout most of the afternoon, according to Joseph M. Steger, Allegany County farm agent.

Boyd Whittle, University of Maryland livestock specialist, will judge beef cattle, beginning with Angus breed at 9 a.m., and continuing with Herefords at 1 p.m. and Shorthorns at 2:30 p.m.

Robert Schabinger, dairy specialist from the University of Maryland, will judge part of the dairy herds with Holsteins to be judged at 9 o'clock and Guernseys at 1 p.m.

Ayrshires will be judged at 9 a.m. by Kemp Ensor, Cockeysville, and the Jerseys will be judged by Winfred Runkler, Frederick, at the same time.

James Twigg, Walnut Ridge, will show a prize boar hog during the afternoon exhibit.

Open class competition will find herds from Glen Savage Dairy, operated by James Weimer and James Roboson; Francis Cosgrove, Westernport, and Michael Cosgrove of Westernport, among the entries.

Last night's opening program was witnessed by approximately 2,500 persons who filled the wooden grandstand to watch wood chopping and sawing contests, a greased pig chase, a greased pole climb, and a medieval riding tournament.

George Sibaugh, 12, of Potomac Park, and Roger Dell, 40, also of Potomac Park, won the greased pig contests, each receiving the pig as a prize. No one, however, was able to win a prize for climbing the greased pole which proved to be difficult for the 14 or 15 entrants.

Victors in the cross cut sawing contest were the team of Lawrence Fox and Dalton Currence, both of Cassidy, W.Va., who cut through their log in 33 seconds.

The wood chopping winner was Arden Cogen, Webster Springs, W.Va., former world champion chopper who cut his log in one minute, 15 seconds.

In the men and women's cross cut competition the winners were Mr. and Mrs. Dalton Currence, who cut their log in 22.4 seconds. Lawrence Fox won the power saw competition with two cuts in 18 seconds flat.

A prize also was awarded to Kenneth Currence, nine-year-old son of Dalton Currence who chopped wood with his father in the trials.

Ralph W. Haines, prosecuting attorney for Hampshire County, from Romney, W.Va., gave the charge to the knights at the medieval riding tournament which was concluded at a late hour last night.

Mr. Haines pointed out that during feudal times in Europe young knights by riding at the ring or dodging the quintain increased their skill in unhorsing their opponents. He charged each contestant last night to follow time-honored customs and traditions which have been perpetuated in the South Branch Valley of the Potomac.

He told the contestants to be brave, skillful, fearless, courageous, courteous and to play the game fairly and squarely with the winner having the honor and pleasure of crowning the beautiful woman of his choice as his Queen of Love and Beauty.

Opening ceremonies were conducted prior to the evening's entertainment with Mayor J. Edwin Keech addressing the spectators.

Slain Man Husband Of Local Woman

Two Youths Held In Creamer Death

Two youths have been charged with the slaying of the husband of a Cumberland woman in Baltimore after they robbed the unemployed father of five children and beat him to death.

The victim, Franklin Creamer, 49, died Sunday in St. Agnes Hospital in Baltimore. He was married to the former Geraldine Owings whose parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Owings, reside at 626 Columbia Avenue here.

Charles Davis, 21, and James P. Ewell, 17, were charged with homicide and robbery. Both are Negroes.

Baltimore police said Mr. Creamer suffered fractures of the skull, nose and jaw, brain injuries, head cuts and a stomach injury in the severe beating. He was robbed of a $20 wristwatch and $21 in cash by his assailants.

Mrs. Doris Chambers, a sister of Mr. Creamer who is a native of Baltimore, said he left her home Saturday night hoping to make some money tending bar for a few hours. About an hour later, he was found lying in a pool of blood near a fire house.

Mrs. Chambers said her brother and two of his children had been living with her in Baltimore since last May when he lost his job as a trucker. His wife and the couple's other three children have been living with Mrs. Creamer's parents here in Cumberland during that period.

Mr. and Mrs. Creamer were married in Cumberland by Rev. George E. Baughman of First Methodist Church approximately 19 years ago. They frequently visited this area and Mr. Creamer was here to visit his wife and children last week.

Mrs. Creamer has been staying with her parents since early in the summer as her husband sought work in Baltimore. He had expected to get work in a bakery next week and the couple planned for the wife and children to join him at that time.

Neighbors stated yesterday that Mrs. Creamer left for Baltimore and the children will leave later this week with their grandparents.

Staying with their mother in Cumberland are Bonnie, 11, George, 15, and John, 9, while living in Baltimore with their father's sister are Nancy, 18, and Frank, 17.

Funeral services are expected to be conducted Thursday.

Two More Women Named As County Teachers

A transfer and a new teacher appointment were announced here yesterday by Assistant Superintendent of Schools Richard T. Rizer.

Miss Betty Ann Hanna, 109 Bowers Street, Frostburg, will return to Beall High School from which she was graduated 10 years ago to teach eighth and ninth grade reading and eighth grade mathematics. She fills the vacancy caused by the retirement of Miss Ruth B. Engle at the end of the 1959-60 school year.

Miss Hanna, who finished her studies at Beall in 1950, was graduated from Frostburg State Teachers College in 1954. She first taught two years at Sherwood High School, Sandy Spring, in Montgomery County. The past four years she has been teaching girls' physical education at Bruce High School in Westernport.

She is a sister of Glen U. Hanna, a Cresaptown Junior High School teacher, who was designated only last week as a new visiting teacher in the pupil personnel department.

Named to succeed Miss Hanna in the physical education post at Bruce High School is Mrs. Rita Wiant Schoenadel, 12 Parkside Boulevard, La Vale.

A 1950 graduate of Allegany High School, Mrs. Schoenadel studied for one and one-half years at Towson State Teachers College. From 1957 until 1960 she attended Frostburg State Teachers College and completed the requirements for her B. S. degree in February. She is the mother of five children.

Mrs. Schoenadel was a member of the Women's Recreation Association at both Towson and Frostburg colleges. The second semester of the past school year she taught physical education at Northern High School at the Cove in Garrett County.

B&O Plans Layoffs For Clerical Staff

About 15 Will Be Laid Off In Area

The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad has given indefinite furlough notices to 10 per cent of its clerical forces. About 15 clerical workers on the Cumberland division will be affected.

The layoffs will chiefly affect clerks in Cumberland and Keyser. The railroad did not announce yesterday how many workers would be affected on the system or supply a breakdown on the layoffs.

Each department will make its own survey of employment to determine the number to be laid off throughout the B&O system.

As of Aug. 1, non-union clerks received a 3 1/2 per cent pay increase. Union clerks received a wage hike last November.

The B&O said the furlough is a result of a slackening off of business. During the last few months carloadings have been under 1959.

Net income for the first half of this year was reported at $1,064,572 compared with $1,042,484 for the first half of 1959. June profit was only $916,636 against $2,519,329 for the same month of 1959.
